DO YOU HAVE THAT GOLD BRACELET IN SILVER? — And in go the necklaces into this shoplifter's purse. Diverting the salesgirl with a question and slipping the goods into a purse or pocket are often-used tricks in Western Wayne county stores. "We're like teachers, we can never turn our backs," said one salesgirl who had experienced the trick more than once. (Picture posed for Romulus Roman Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.)

Shoplifting serious problem in Western Wayne County

By CAROL THOMAS

As the helpful salesgirl turns, the customer slips a pair of earrings into her purse. A teenager slides a tiny t-shirt top into her shopping bag while nobody is looking. An overweight woman walks into the fitting room wearing one dress and comes out wearing two.

Or a professional shoplifter manages to slide a fur-trimmed coat into her voluminous purse without being seen.

SHOPLIFTING anything from the smallest pair of earrings to a $1000 fur coat is a crime — a felony in many cases.

But the possible jail sentence isn't doing much to keep the light-fingered from exercising their skills according to Western Wayne County merchants.

"We watch everybody that comes into the store," said John Magda, manager of the He and She Pant Store in Belleville.

Shoplifting is a problem at the pant store, Magda said, but careful salespeople help in the fight to save the merchandise.

SHOPLIFTERS in the pant store usually try to hide a pair in their packages and then go into the fitting room to hide the stolen item more securely. Magda said shoplifting prevention is simply a matter of being more "eagle-eyed" than the shoplifter.

Most of the shoplifting attempts come from young persons, Magda said. Although there are laws against the pilferage, Magda explained that the store doesn't usually prosecute the first offenders.

"Most of the kids that try it are young, so we give them one chance," he said. "We tell them to get out and never come back again."

"On the second time, that's when it all breaks loose."

A FAVORITE trick of shoplifters, Magda said, is to slide the garment into their coat.

Commissioners will review plans for road patrol assistance

By HENRY CANTIN

The Public Safety and Judiciary Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has called a meeting this week to receive written plans or proposals for assisting in the future financing of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Road Patrol Division.

Supervisors of out-county areas served by the road patrol divisions were requested at the May 8 meeting of the committee to submit by May 29 written proposals for the funding at least part of the road patrol services they now receive free.

Many of the proposals are expected to involve millage requests to voters of the areas. The committee already has conducted two hearings on the future funding (on shared-costs) without reaching a final determination.

THE WAYNE County Sheriff's Department road patrol unit provides free patrol and law enforcement services to the following communities:

Brownstown, Canton, Huron, Northville, Plymouth, Sumpter and Van Buren townships.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners which control the budgetary funds for the sheriff's department "insists" the townships put up at least part of the cost of the road patrol services or provide their own police service.

The board of commissioners which has control over the sheriff's department has funded the road patrol only to August of this year. This is in line with its decision two years to eventually discontinue free service to the townships.

The supervisors are fighting the Wayne County Board of Commissioners' move to end road patrol services to their communities. They contend — and said they may go to court if necessary — the residents of their communities are paying taxes to the county and are entitled to patrol service.

THE COMMISSIONERS contend that Wayne County is experiencing too many budget difficulties subsidizing police services for township.

The township supervisors contend that their administrations are in no positions to finance the creation of police departments to replace the road patrol services without millage requests.

George W. Moore, president of the Wayne County Supervisors Association, said that the association has set up a legal fund from contributions from association members to take legal action if necessary to maintain the road patrol service in the townships.

In recent weeks some supervisors have initiated preliminary studies toward proposed millage requests.

Pay hike okayed

Commissioners may not go to jail

By CAROL THOMAS

Wayne County Commissioners may not be going to jail after all. They are slated to approve a 5 per cent pay hike for probation officers this week.

Wayne County probation officers will get their pay increase after nearly a year of court fighting.

A ways and Means Committee made up of all 27 Wayne County Commissioners gave unanimous approval yesterday to the wage increase proposal. The three courts involved have tentatively approved the contract. The contract needs final approval from the board of commissioners.

CIRCUIT COURT Judge Joseph Sullivan ordered 20 commissioners who voted against an earlier contract negotiated by the court to jail. His order was stayed until the state Supreme Court looked over the case. The court has made no decision.

Area commissioners Brian Arrowsmith who represents Van Buren Township and John Sabo Jr. who represents Romulus were slated to go to jail under Sullivan's original order.

More than 200 probation officers with salaries ranging from $10,889 to $17,823 are involved in the contract.

The new contract involves a 5 per cent increase. The contract negotiated earlier by the courts had been a 5.5 per cent increase.

Other county employees who received only 4 per cent raises in their contracts last year say they will withdraw two lawsuits they have pending against the board of commissioners because they are satisfied with the settlement given the probation officers.

PROBATION officers must work on three holidays that other county employees have, and probation officers receive no payment for overtime while other employees do.

The agreement must be approved by the circuit court, Detroit Recorder's Court and juvenile probate court. Final approval must come from Local 1905 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees.

"It was just the principal of the whole thing," a spokesman for the commissioners said yesterday. "The court negotiated the contract and demanded that we honor it."

"They never went through the proper negotiating channels."

"THEN THE court just called the commissioners in here and demanded that they vote the pay raise," he continued.

Proper separation of government powers was the issue at stake in the argument, he explained. The exact pay raise was only a small part of the question.

ONE LAST FORKFUL — Jim Timmons from the Department of Natural Resources' District (DNR) No. 4 crew collects some of the last forkfuls of carp at Belleville Lake. The fish were accidentally killed when poison spilled over from nearby Ford Lake. DNR workers have been carrying away truckloads of fish, but they say this is the end. The people will just have to bury the rest of the fish themselves. The lake will probably be restocked in the fall, DNR workers said. — Romulus Roman photo by Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.

Huron Township to have summer recreation program

Funds for a joint summer recreation program with the Huron School District has been approved by the Huron Township Board of Trustees.

The township board allocated $1,175 to finance the recreation for children four to 16 years of age during the summer months — the first summer recreation program in the last three years for the township.

Efforts by the recently created citizens group — Community Council — resulted in the recreational fund allocation by the township trustees. The council has been organizing the program over the last three months.

According to Roger Benner, community-school director, who organized the program, School Superintendent Byron Antcliff, granted permission for use of school facilities provided the township would put up the funds.

The program will begin on July 2 and will run for six weeks. It will be held at Riverside Elementary School and at a New Boston site to be selected.

Included in the recreational program will be arts and crafts, team sports, nature study and skill development — such as golf, archery and roller skating and organized games.

Program sessions will run from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., five days a week under the supervision of five high school students and two adults paid by the township.

An adult recreational program which may run two nights a week is under consideration according to Benner.

The township is expected to begin a recreation program this year and has set aside $5,000, said Township Clerk Mrs. Mary Lou Carey.

Excess money from the Huron School District's community education program funded the recreation program for one year three years ago.

Romulus citizens take pride in your homes

By MITCH KEHETIAN
Romulus Roman Editor

Urban renewal — God-sent or a bulldozer? In Romulus' Beverly Urban Renewal Project zone, urban renewal means helping citizens to improve their living conditions.

The Beverly zone community, mostly a black citizenry, takes pride in its homes and appreciates the assistance of Urban Renewal at meeting modern home improvement standards.

BUT IT should be pointed out that if these homes are in need of updating, it's not because the occupants let them get into a run-down condition.

When Romulus' blacks first came to this area they built their homes with their own hands and with meager supplies.

The black American in those days was denied the freedom of movement — especially in home buying. But he was welcomed to Romulus — and like the early pioneers, he built a modest home for his family.

And he was forced to build with existing supplies because the good-paying jobs weren't available to black Americans — and that wasn't too long ago.

To label the Beverly section a ghetto is erroneous. Blacks have every right to be proud of their existing homes — they built these shelters with a hope that their children would have a better life in a more hospitable society.

DR. MARTIN Luther King's "dream" has meaning and foundations — and the blacks of Romulus are building and rehabilitating their homes on that very foundation.

Romulus' urban renewal zone never was a ghetto nor a jungle — instead, it was a zone in which men and women decided to build for a God-given right denied elsewhere because of blind prejudices.

And the beauty of the Beverly Urban Renewal program comes with the knowledge that these home owners were offered several choices; namely, move into city-owned public housing; build new homes on new lots, or have urban renewal move them to a new area.

Instead, they chose to adopt the urban renewal neighborhood redevelopment concept — improve existing structures to meet today's housing guidelines.

THE FOUNDATION for that better tomorrow will not be moved — thanks to urban renewal employees who accept their duties with compassion and feeling for the total Romulus community.

Dr. King's "dream" of a better tomorrow will be attained — because the foundation to that dream was hand-built in Romulus.

State eyes funeral, practices

LANSING — Public hearings to investigate cemetery and funeral practices will be held throughout the state.

Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) said the hearings were necessary to examine possible fraudulent activities, clarify the situation as to burial practices and receive public input while increasing public knowledge.

"Mail I have received indicates concern and confusion over many of the existing practices," Faust said. "Areas of special concern are fraudulent sales to armed forces veterans, legality of memorial societies, sale of funeral merchandise and the status of pet cemeteries."

As an example of questionable practice, Faust cited the disclosure that veterans in the Flint area had been cheated out of over $1,000,000 by memorial parks offering special rates on funeral and cemetery goods that weren't really so special.

The veteran would pay $800 to $1,000 for burial vaults for himself and his wife that cost the dealer only $62, according to the Michigan Department of Commerce.

"These practices are all too common," Faust said. "But these hearings will allow us to define the problems and work out solutions and effective protections."

Hearings will be held in Detroit May 30, Grand Rapids May 23, Flint June 6, and the Kalamazoo area June 12 and 13.

Permits renewed for dog kennels

The Van Buren Township Board recently approved two dog kennel license renewals.

License renewal requests were made by Don DeTar, 40504 Tyler Rd., Van Buren Township; and for Mrs. Helen Adecock at 850 Savage Rd.

Bids sought on trucks

Sumpter Township is seeking bid proposals for a 1969 Ford pickup dog truck and a 1951 Dodge pumper fire truck.

Bids must be received by the Township clerk Clarence J. Hoffman, Jr. by 5 p.m. June 26.

Arrangements may be made to view the vehicles by calling the clerk's office 697-0900.

Van Buren residents ride in 'bike hike'

The Frankenmuth bike hike, second in a series sponsored by the Van Buren Township Recreation Department, was reported to be "very successful" by Ben Robertson, township community development planner and director of the department's physical fitness program.

Twenty-eight township residents participated in the bike hike Saturday, May 19. The participants left for the Frankenmuth bike hike from the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd., in consolidated car rides. Bikes were transported in other vehicles.

The bikers met at the Carling Park, south of the popular Zenders Restaurant to kick off the bike hike. The Frankenmuth Chamber of Commerce had been notified and were on hand to receive the visiting bike riders.

"We traveled a total of 26 miles, played softball and had a picnic. It was a very successful bike hike," Robertson said.

The next bike tour-hike will be during the first part of July. He urges more people of the township to participate by joining the physical fitness classes which are held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Belleville High School gymnasium.

Energy crisis outlined

The growing need for energy and the threat that comes with the increasing energy demand was outlined last week to members of the Romulus Kiwanis Club.

L. Donald Penson, urban manager with Consumers Power, said the increase in energy demand "is perhaps the greatest threat to our energy supply."

The energy specialist said the United States has one sixth of the world population, yet uses 35 per cent of the world energy.

HE SAID the country's population growth has added to the dilemma of generating enough energy to meet supply demands.

"There are more homes, more cars, trucks and tractors — and a greater energy demand from industry," he explained in outlining some of the causes to the nation's present energy crisis.

Penson said the cost of drilling is expensive because Consumers has to hire private drilling companies to do their wells.

"DELIVERY from offshore wells in the Gulf of Mexico requires more than a thousand miles of pipe line. Once the gas is here, large storage areas must be maintained in order to satisfy customers during the peak winter season," he added.

Gerald Canejo, Kiwanis Club president, said the present energy crisis should be of concern to all responsible citizens.

President installed by mother

Mrs. Leona M. Agge, 34 Biggs St., Belleville, had the unusual honor of installing her eldest daughter, Mrs. Lorraine F. (Shaffer) Durocher, as president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Eddie Stinson Post 2407 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW).

Mrs. Agge is a past president (1954-56) of the auxiliary to the Huron River Post 4434, Belleville. The recent installation ceremony was held at the Eddie Stinson Memorial Home, 10320 Van Dyke Ave., Detroit.

Mrs. Durocher currently is chaplain of the Third District Auxiliary to the VFW and also a three-year trustee to the Wayne County Council to the VFW.

June 14 is dog license deadline

Van Buren Township residents who wait after the June 14 deadline to purchase 1973 dog licenses will have to pay $10 instead of the regular $3 license fee, Ralph Hedman, township treasurer, said Monday.

The township board recently approved an increase for all dog license fees, regardless of sex, to $3 and set a new $10 fee for after the deadline.

So far about 450 township owners have obtained their 1973 dog tags. Last year, (1972) approximately 1,400 dog licenses were issued.

Hedman said dog owners must show proof of vaccination when applying for 1973 dog licenses.

General Motors produces 30 millionth Hydramatic

The production of the 30 millionth Hydra-matic transmission by the Hydra-matic Division of General Motors Corporation was announced today at Ypsilanti by J.S. Garlic, general manager of the division.

A group of state, civic, and General Motors officials and Hydra-matic employees met the milestone transmission as it came off the division's assembly line at 11:34 a.m.

Hydra-matic, the pioneer in the automatic transmission industry, was established in 1939. The first Hydra-matic transmission was used in the 1940 Oldsmobile passenger car.

Speaking at the "30 millionth" celebration for the division, Frank O. Riley, vice president and group executive in charge of GM Automotive Components Group, stated that this occasion not only marked the production of the 30 millionth Hydra-matic but it also marked the 34th year of operation for Hydra-matic as a division of General Motors.

He added, "that of the 30 million transmissions produced by Hydra-matic, 25 million were produced at the Willow Run location."

The Division's Livonia, Michigan, facilities were destroyed by fire on Aug. 12, 1953 and production was resumed 84 days later at the present Willow Run facility.

Summing up the Division's progress through the years, Riley told his audience that Hydra-matic is a very progressive Division. He said, "During the first full year of operation 34 years ago the Division produced 60,000 transmissions. During the 1973 calendar year, it will have produced an estimated 2.1 million transmissions."

Riley also said, that as previously announced by General Motors, Hydra-matic Division has the assignment for the initial production of the G.M. Rotary Engine — an exciting project and a real tribute to the Division and its people for being selected for the program.

The Hydra-matic Division employs approximately 7,000 people, produces Hydra-matic transmissions for Buick, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Opel, trucks Holden, Avanti, Rolls-Royce, SS Automobiles, Inc., and Checker cabs passenger cars, GMC and Chevrolet light duty and Jeep Vehicles.

Library aid gets okay

By WES THORP

Unanimous approval was given to a state aid for local libraries bill in the House of Representatives Friday.

The bill which was introduced by State Rep. John F. Markes (D-Westland) would appropriate approximately $5 million for public libraries and library systems in the state.

The Markes bill would increase the present five cents per capita allocation to local libraries to 35 cents — providing an increase in state aid of approximately $2.4 million.

STATE AID for public library systems would be increased from the present 20 cents per capita level to 30 cents for an additional cost of $700,000.

"The need for quick and substantial aid to libraries is pressing," Markes said. "The cost of running libraries has risen just as everything else has."

"Throughout the state, public libraries are in trouble."

Markes calls an increase in state assistance "vital to the survival of our public library systems."

BEFORE THE bill can become law it has to be approved by the senate and signed by the governor.

Once the bill is made law, the state would be required to fund the bill at the higher per capita level. The state would not be able to decrease it, so libraries would be assured of getting the same amount each year.

CLOTHES ARE SO EXPENSIVE — One shoplifter might try this ploy of standing underneath the camera between two racks of dresses to slip a nightie into an already partially full shopping bag. Nothing except a sharp-eyed salesgirl can catch this type of sneaky thief, a store manager says. — (Picture posed for Romulus Roman Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.)

Shoplifting is problem for area storekeepers

Many area merchants said young girls and women were the most likely to shoplift, but Magda disagreed. The guys do their share of the "ripping-off."

Another Belleville merchant, the owner of Kureth's Apparel Shop said they have little or no shoplifting problem.

"We just watch everyone who comes in here very closely," Darwin Kureth said.

The shoplifting problem becomes acute in large shopping malls like Westland Center in Westland. Large numbers of people and the airy-open-front stores make keeping the merchandise in the store until it's paid for a serious task, the merchants agree.

One woman walked into Himelhoch's Store in the mall a while ago and nearly escaped with a fur coat, said manager Bernice Zabala. SHARP-EYED sales people are still the best weapon. Mrs. Zabala added. Many Westland Center merchants use cameras near the open airy doorways, but good sales people are best.

Store managers say the cameras are conspicuously placed as a deterrent to thieves.

"If we wanted to use the cameras to catch the shoplifters, we'd hide the cameras," said Gerri Nagy, manager of the Franklin Simon department store in the center. Clothing store managers have the most trouble with shoplifters. Tiny knit tops, sweaters, necklaces and bracelets are all laid out enticingly on counters and they slip nicely into packages and purses. MALL STORE managers agree that only a campaign of legal threat against shoplifters can make that free stolen merchandise a little less attractive.

NBD announces promotions

The National Bank of Detroit (NBD) recently announced a number of promotions and reassignments of top personnel in Western Wayne County.

Floyd Griffith, 48, of Belleville, who has been involved with NBD's local banking operation for 16 years, has been promoted to officer-in-charge of the bank's Warren Regional Banking Center.

He recently was assigned to the bank's branch in Wayne.

Moving to the Wayne Office to assume a number of Griffith's past duties as commercial loan officer is Thomas Meeker of Livonia, from the bank's Belleville Office.

MEEKER WILL head loans for business customers in the greater Belleville-Romulus area from a centralized regional commercial loan center at the Wayne Office. "With the centralization we will be able to provide faster and more complete commercial loan service, throughout this region," Meeker said.

Also leaving the Belleville office is Manager John Holowicki, who has been named to the post of Wayne office manager.

Holowicki became Belleville manager in 1970 and presently is a board member of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, a charter member of the Belleville Lions Club and the secretary-treasurer of the Belleville unit of the Salvation Army.

He and his wife, Isabel, have four children: Mames, John III, Susan and Nancy. They reside in Dearborn Heights.

MOVING TO Belleville to assume the duties of officer-in-charge of the Belleville operation is Neil Banks. A 10-year manager of NBD's Inkster Office, Banks has been with NBD for 27 years.

"We want to make sure that we continue to provide the local community with the best personalized and professional banking service possible," Banks said.

He and his wife, Marcia, have two children — Gary and Robert.

Griffith, an NBD vice-president, takes over the position of Kevin F. Walsh, who was named to head the bank's Credit Administration Department.

An NBD employee for the last 16 years, Griffith has been commercial loan manager for the bank's Metro-South Regional Banking Center. He is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University, the Stonier School at Rutgers University, the Columbia University Executive Program and holds a Graduate Certificate from the American Institute of Banking.

GRIFFITH, and his wife, Sally, and their three children live at 47991 Merle Court, Belleville. He is active in his community.

He currently is vice-president of the Belleville Rotary Club, president of the board of trustees of the Belleville United Presbyterian Church and a board member of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

In addition, he is a board member of the Van Buren Township Industrial Coordinating Committee and is on the financial board of the Huron Valley Girl Scouts.

The Griffiths' three children answer to the names of Dennison, Tom and Anne.

HCMA, commissioners to discuss fund cut-off

Plans to withhold funds from the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority will be discussed tomorrow when members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners meet with park authority representatives.

The commissioners voted May 3 to withhold the county's share of support for the park authority until the authority agreed to buy up parkland in Canton, Plymouth and Northville townships and Belle Isle.

After protest from the park authority, however, the commissioners agreed to meet with representatives.

The commissioners said not enough parkland is being acquired in Wayne County even though Wayne supplies nearly 52 per cent of the park authority's funds.

Park authority spokesman countered the commissioners charges by saying Wayne County residents did use 52 per cent of the park facilities in existence.

Legal action to gain what commissioners termed "appropriate Wayne County representation" on the governing board also was included in the May 3 resolution.

The Wednesday meeting will be the last step before the plan to put support funds into escrow, a spokesman for the Wayne commissioners said.

Park authority spokesman had previously said that withholding funds could seriously hurt the authority's programs and perhaps mean the closing of some parks this summer.

Van Buren will bill DNR for lake clean-up

The Van Buren Township Board will send a bill to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) for expenses for time and material used in cleaning up Belleville Lake and its shores of dead fish.

Trustee Stephen Kuchta made the motion to send the DNR a request for payment of expenses. He was supported by Trustee Fred Domen. The motion was unanimously adopted by the board.

A few township employees and some equipment had been loaned the township. Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said the bill for expenses would amount to "a few hundred dollars," and added that DNR officials working at Belleville Lake indicated the DNR would reimburse the township.

Vorster welcomes new 'climate'

BY JOHN P. MCGOFF, President
Panax Newspapers
(Part Seven of 10-part Series)

CAPE TOWN, SA -- Republic of South Africa Prime Minister B.J. Vorster sat chain-smoking on a couch in his Parliament Building office and talked of the warming political climate between South Africa and the United States. There had been a chill in the relationship since 1956 when the African nations emerged into powerful voices in the United Nations.

But Vorster said that his turbulent and booming nation at the southern tip of the continent feels more comfortable with the administration of President Nixon.

"Well, let me say plainly that Mr. Nixon is the best thing that has happened to South Africa," he said. "We have every reason to be very thankful that Mr. Nixon is there."

THERE IS CONCERN here about the thaw in the diplomacy between Peking and Washington after Nixon's visit last year, but it is centered on the next step of China, not on the United States.

Africa lives next door

"I think he (Nixon) knows what he is doing," Vorster said. "Aside from the fact that I might have certain reservations about it, I certainly am not going to quarrel with him for having done it..."

"But America is a big state, the biggest in the world. America can afford, but we certainly cannot afford, to play it out with the communists."

AS HE SPOKE, there were visions of the little men in baggy pants and the peaked caps offering the empathy of poverty and the philosophy of the communists to the multitudes of Tanzania.

And elsewhere in the giant continent, the Chinese are providing trade and aid programs and Vorster is convinced the cold wealth of the approach is ultimately designed as a hot invasion of South Africa.

Panax Corporation President John P. McGoff recently made his second visit to the Republic of South Africa. On this trip he met with the Hon. B.J. Vorster, Prime Minister of South Africa.

Vorster is a dynamic leader who has been Prime Minister since 1966 and is leading South Africa to a role of international prominence.

Order misplaced

State breakdown claims three lives

By WES THORP, Daily Eagle Lansing Bureau

LANSING — Investigators have disclosed how an eight-month slippage in the machinery of state government can cause death at a railway crossing and a threatened wholesale overhaul of the system.

The procedural collapse was triggered May 6 when three people were killed by a car-train crash at an unprotected Western Wayne County railway crossing.

The breakdown came in the railroad division of the Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC) which acts on all requests for installation of safety equipment at train crossings.

ONE SUCH REQUEST which mysteriously got lost in a file drawer became the death warrant for the three people.

An order to install safety lights and gates at the heavily trafficked crossing was approved during the summer of 1972 but not issued until May 9, three days after the fatal accident.

The day after the car-train collision, State Rep. Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, in whose district the tragedy occurred, began pressing for a reason for the delay.

Owen, a freshman lawmaker, requested an investigation by William G. Rosenberg, PSC chairman, and preliminary findings of that examination reveal how "hardening of the arteries" can set in on a governmental agency.

First, Rosenberg gave a short chronology of the Van Buren case.

IT STARTED WITH residents near the railroad crossing circulating petitions in early 1971 asking the PSC to investigate conditions at the crossing.

There was an on-site review of the crossing in August 1971 by a PSC inspector who recommended the installation of flasher signals and half-roadway gates.

Because of a protest from the Norfolk and Western Railway, a hearing was held in January 1972 which resulted in the hearing examiner proposing installation of the safety equipment.

The railway filed its objections and then on July 24, 1972, the PSC approved an order for installation of the flashing lights and the gates.

BUT FOR SOME unexplainable reason that order was not issued until May 9, 1973, three days after the multiple-fatality accident.

After giving this chronology, Rosenberg explained that, "the railroad division is confronted with a large workload which apparently is continuing to build."

"This is well-evidenced by the backlog of pending investigations to which the division has not yet been able to give attention," he added.

SOME OF THE delay which has been experienced in handling protection matters, Rosenberg said, "is traceable to the slowness of hearings examiners in reaching decisions and preparing proposals for decision."

The railroad division, according to Rosenberg has experienced administrative problems, including lack of delegation of authority, questionable setting of priorities and lack of systematic management methods.

Officials are confident

Old 'Pullens Corners' has a bright future

In last week's edition of the Enterprise-Roman we carried a news item on construction in Romulus.

The report mentioned that in the month of April, permits for more than $600,000 in construction had been issued by the city's Building Department.

On the surface it may appear to be taken progress for a community which traces its heritage back to 1835 when Romulus was created from part of Huron Township.

But in talks with Romulus city councilmen, the mayor and members of the Chamber of Commerce, one can sense the city's future is headed in the right direction — for the good of all its citizenry.

Romulus' city status came to birth three years ago this month, and takes in a 36-square mile area — including sprawling Metro Airport.

But in going back to those early days, the area was a swampy, wooded locality accessible only by a few trails and the shallow winding Huron River.

The Wayne County Office for Industrial & Commercial Development tells us Romulus' first known resident was a French-Canadian by the name of Samuel Polyne, who immigrated in 1826.

How they voted...

On Capitol Hill

Daily Eagle Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Following are votes by members of the Michigan delegation on major roll calls in Congress for the week ending May 18:

By a vote of 69 to 25 the Senate passed and sent to the house a bill authorizing $805 million in federal funds to encourage establishment and maintenance of group health plans.

Griffin and Hart both voted for the bill.

By a vote of 79 to 15 the Senate passed and sent to the House a $390 million authorization bill to improve delivery of health care by authorizing up to eight regional centers plus a health care technology center and a health care management center.

Griffin and Hart both voted for the bill.

By a vote of 79 to 13 the Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to provide $225 million

In 1836 the village of Romulus was platted and recorded as "Pullens Corners," the identity coming from settler Jenks Pullens. We also remind that "Pullens Corners" played an important role during the period of the underground railroad in the transportation of escaped slaves from the south.

Present-day Romulus, according to the 1970 federal census, numbers in population more than 22,000 — with a state equalized property valuation of more than $175 million.

In the age category, Romulus is basically youthful. The 1970 census reveals that Romulus' young people, in ages 5 through 14, ranks a high 21 per cent ratio; while a ratio of persons 55 years and older is set at 11.5 per cent.

At the same time, the prime age years of 25 through 54 numbers in at 35.7 per cent of the city's total population.

Another interesting note about the future is knowing Romulus boasts a skilled trade force of nearly 48 per cent — with 15 per cent of the working community in the managerial and professional field.

The future of Romulus is bright — and it can expand by utilizing its single largest taxpaying resident — sprawling Metro Airport.

spread over three years to encourage the creation of emergency medical services. Griffin and Hart both voted for the bill.

By a vote of 79 to 15 the Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to permit employer contributions to joint labor-management funds for financing legal services. Griffin and Hart both voted for the bill.

By a vote of 266 to 123 the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing a $40 million, five year contribution to a United Nations fund intended to improve the global environment.

Voting for: Broomfield, Brown, Cederberg, Chamberlain, Conyers, Diggs, Dingell, Gerald Ford, William Ford, (D-15th District), Griffiths, Harvey, Nedzi, O'Hara, Riegle, Ruppe and Van Der Jagt.

Voting against: Huber and Hutchinson. Not voting: Esch.

Young people open library

Trip to Poland inspires heritage search

By MITCHEL KEHETIAN Editor

Michael A. Krolewski and a group of young Americans calling themselves the Polish-American Folk Theater journeyed to Poland in 1970 in search of their rich Polish heritage.

While visiting the homeland of their ancestors, the theater group bought every book available — to bring back home to energize Polish pride within the single largest ethnic group in Michigan.

The 80-member folk group, with membership coming from throughout the metropolitan area, continued the search for Polish books — to fill the shelves of the newly purchased Adam Mickiewicz Library.

The Adam Mickiewicz Library, named in honor of the great Polish writer, is located in a small frame dwelling at 17322 Fenelon, on Detroit's east side.

EACH DAY YOUNG Americans of Polish heritage visit the library. They come from Warren, Royal Oak, Dearborn, Westland, Garden City, Belleville, Livonia, Wayne and Canton Township.

Krolewski tells us the purchase of the new library, once a private residence, was no easy task. We decided to do it ourselves. It took a lot of bake sales at Polish functions, car washes near churches attended by the Polish community, dances to bring young American-Poles together — to raise the necessary $8,000 to purchase the old home.

But pride and hard work finally paid off last December 24 when the doors to The Adam Mickiewicz Library opened to the Polish-American community.

KROLEWSKI TELLS US the library now contains more than 8,000 books relating to Polish culture and heritage. In addition to the prized volumes, the library offers the use of nearly 1,000 records to young Americans desirous of learning the Polish language and authentic folk music from the homeland of their ancestors.

Since that eventful trip to Poland in 1970, books continue to arrive at the library — courtesy of a school in the Polish city of Zabrze.

And when word spread through the metropolitan Polish community that the Mickiewicz Library was in need of additional books — area residents forwarded their books, in English and Polish, to the library for safe-keeping.

THERE'S ONE LETTER from Poland Krolewski wants to share. It was penned by a nine-year-old girl in Zabrze. In the letter, the girl said: "We're sending you books to help preserve our rich Polish culture in America..."

While in Poland, the Polish folk group's Galicia Song and Dance Ensemble performed for the young students of Zabrze — creating a bond of heritage and Polish pride. Krolewski admits the Mickiewicz Library has a long way to go before attaining total library status, but he stresses:

"We're a young group. Some of us are second, third and fourth generation American-Poles. Only a handful can speak the Polish language — but that doesn't stop us from striving to perpetuate a rich culture."

THE LIBRARY IS A beginning, and one that deserves the support of Americans of Polish ancestry now residing in Western Wayne County.

Preserving old-world heritages is healthy for America. An example of ethnic pride and culture began last weekend with the opening of the Detroit Riverfront Ethnic Festival series.

AND THERE TO SHARE their culture will be Americans of Polish, Greek, Italian, Afro-American, Slovak and Ukrainian heritages, and other ethnic groups which contribute to the greatest society of free peoples in the world.

Throughout the history of Poland, its pages have been filled with despair as one conquering nation after another marched through her villages and cities — and each time she rose from the ashes to rebuild.

Krolewski and the 80-member Polish folk theater group want to know more about their heritage. They feel the library is the beginning.

The Atlantic Charter was the document that set the stage for South Africa's precarious position in the community of nations, one condition being that the "scourges of the world" be removed.

South Africa suffered a blow to its pride when the U.S. applied the arms embargo. Because of a almost natural affinity toward Americans, South Africans were hurt by the U.S. action.

They would like to have the embargo lifted, particularly since the United States provides armaments to other nations.

SOUTH AFRICA continues to remind Americans that their fighting ships used South African ports for many years as refueling and repair depots. The nation also hosts a NASA space tracking station.

And South Africa believes that the power of its nation must lie for many years with the white man until the blacks are ready to assume responsibility for a rapidly growing nation.

The worldwide criticism of apartheid, which South Africa now terms parallel and separate development, has aggravated the racial problem at a time when both are trying to work together.

The South West Africa debate in the United Nations, they feel, has been counter-productive, that the many tribes of that area should determine their own future, not the UN.

Vorster said the condition in the Republic of South Africa has been tailored to its own problems and cannot be exported or applied or altered by the UN.

HE SAID THERE is a wide gulf between the blacks in America, who are Americans with an American cultural heritage, and the South African blacks, who have their own languages and dialects and a deep desire to perpetuate their own traditions.

"And for that matter, the only thing that they have in common is a black skin," Vorster said. "The Zulu is as different from the Tswana as the Swede is from the Italian."

"We have to deal with different people, different peoples who want to maintain their own identity, who take pride in their own language, who take pride in their own customs and traditions."

"Your problems are absolutely different."

There is a sensitive question of pace of the progress of South Africa, whether it is faster than the people of the homelands can absorb it or not fast enough for them to progress at a satisfying rate.

VORSTER SAID he asked for and received a judgment from a political patriarch of the country. He reported that the pace was proper, neither too fast nor too slow.

"We won't go faster, but taking all circumstances into account, I think we are going as fast as we can, not only politically but also economically," he said.

Vorster stands four-square on the concept that it is better for a people to decide their own fate and to determine for themselves when they have had sufficient experience for self-government.

"If they want to fritter it, OK," he said. "If they want to conquer it, that they should do. But I don't think either South Africa or the UN has the right to prescribe as to what they ultimately must do."

Vorster considers the bridgehead that the Red Chinese have established in Tanzania and "ultimately will establish in Zambia, if and when the Tanzan railway line has been completed" the greatest threats to South African security.

HE FEELS THAT the thousands of Chinese laborers on the rail line and in other pursuits are here to stay and the only, but very crucial question, is how far they will go toward revolution.

The trouble signs will come for South Africa, he said, when the Chinese enter Angola and Mozambique and mass on the border of Rhodesia.

"Because these terrorists have made it very clear, there can't be any misunderstanding about it, that their aim is not to liberate Mozambique or Angola, but that their ultimate aim is this tip of Africa," Vorster said.

"And it stands to reason in a conventional war that it will mean everything in the world to the Communists if they can control this strategic part of Africa."

With the infiltrations of the Chinese in Tanzania and Zambia and the Russians along the Indian Ocean, the could of threatened confrontation between the east and west hovers over Africa.

VORSTER SAID "we have no intention whatsoever" of entering into diplomatic relations either with the Soviet or Red China. South Africa broke off relations with both in the 1950's.

The "million dollar question" now is armaments for defense against outside interests, not to settle internal disputes. The main defense problem is the Cape sea route around the southern tip of the continent now that the Suez canal is indefinitely closed.

"I don't see why it (the U.S. arms embargo) can't be lifted," he said. "We don't require offensive arms against Black Africa or our own Africans as it is often said..."

"We don't want that at all. We don't require it. We can deal with anything that comes up with Black Africa before break-fast. It is a question of defending the Cape against Communist infiltration."

THE GREATEST PROBLEM of the independent African nations, he said, is an oversupply of unskilled labor. South Africa has tried to take the edge off poverty by finding jobs for them, including 90,000 Malawians and 50,000 to 60,000 Basutus.

At the moment, Vorster said, about 500,000 blacks enter South Africa illegally each year from such nearby nations as Zambia, Tanzania, and Kenya.

"It is the only so-called 'police state' in the world that people want to come to instead of wanting to get out of," he said.

Vorster's government gave a recent raise of 15 per cent to white civil servants and 17½ per cent to blacks in an attempt to close the "inequitable wage gap," he said. And the nation has a minimum wage law.

South Africa has as many problems threatening from the outside as it has bubbling inside its borders — all of which are grinding toward a solution, positively or negatively.

The one bright spot for Vorster and his Nationalist Party is that the United States is hopefully reawakening to them.

'Suspension' suspended

An offer to discuss "mutual concerns" has brought a temporary suspension of a decision by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to withhold millage payments to the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA).

The commissioners decided at a May 17 meeting to hold in abeyance their May 3 decision to withhold the funds and to take legal action against the regional park authority.

They acted after receiving a letter from Eugene J. Ellison, chairman of the HCMA board, stating that he and other HCMA board members "would be glad to meet...to discuss your position, our situation and our mutual concerns."

THE BOARD of Commissioners directed its Public Works Committee to meet with the HCMA representatives. Public Works Chairman Thomas P. O'Rourke scheduled a meeting for 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 30, at the City-County Building.

The Commissioners had directed the County Board of Auditors to withhold the balance of this year's millage payments to the authority. Some $2.4 million is involved.

They also directed the County Corporation Counsel to file suit challenging the structure of the authority board as violating the "one-man, one-vote" principle enunciated by the U.S. Supreme Court.

THE SEVEN-MEMBER HCMA board consists of one member from each of the five counties covered by the park authority, plus two members appointed by the governor.

The high court's one-man, one-vote decisions established the principle of representation based on population. Wayne is the most populous county of the five.

The May 3 actions regarding the funding and structure of the HCMA automatically will come before the Commissioners at their next Board meeting June 7. They indicated their decisions at that time will depend on the outcome of the May 30 meeting with the HCMA board.

Stamp bourse set June 2

The annual exhibition and bourse of the Albion Stamp Club, which is to be held on June 2 in Tennant Hall, First United Methodist Church, corner of Michigan Avenue and Oswego Street, Albion, will be highlighted by the fact that this will be the 29th show presented by the group in the 34-year history of the club.

William Lambrecht, president, reports that the souvenir sheet for the 29th anniversary will use the George Gershwin stamp honoring musicians.

Light lunches will be available during the day, served by the Women's Society of Christian Service (WSCS).

Campers may choose any of 51,000 sites

With more than 51,000 campsites available, Michigan's camping industry is better prepared than ever to handle the annual summer rush to the state's forests, lakes and streams, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Although state park campsites have been increased by less than one percent since last year, the number of private campground spaces, according to an Auto Club listing, has grown by 19 percent over 1972.

"Few, if any, campers should have problems finding space this summer," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. "Even if their favorite state park campground is filled to capacity, several private campgrounds with vacant spaces should be in close driving distance."

THIS YEAR the Auto Club's guide to private campgrounds lists 305 parks — 270 in the Lower Peninsula and 35 in the UP — as compared to 255 listed last year. The 305 private campgrounds offer a total of 23,897 campsites.

In comparison, Michigan's 70 state parks offer 14,827 sites. At state forests, 2,829 sites are available and at national forests, 1,789. City, township and county parks — often overlooked by the camping public — now have 8,381 sites.

"One indicator of how the growth of private parks has helped campers is the 29 percent decrease in the number of turnaways at state parks last year as compared to 1971," Ratke noted. "With only a slight increase in new sites in 1972, state parks turned away 59,730 camping families while in 1971 the number was 84,258. MOST PRIVATE campgrounds, unlike state parks, do take reservations. In its 1973 private campground guide, Auto Club shows the general location of each park as well as a telephone number for making reservations.

Milan sets art fair for June 3

Sunday, June 3 will be an interesting afternoon of art activity in Milan. The Arts and Crafts Club is sponsoring its Fourth Annual Art Fair in the natural setting of Wilson Park. This year's exhibit promises to be larger with nearly 100 entries. The variety of art and craft promises to be as interesting and varied as in years' past.

Exhibits will include painting in oil, acrylic and watercolor; and woodcuts, etchings, leatherwork, spinning and weaving, sculpture, pottery, ceramics, candles, and macrame. There will also be various crafts done in stone, copper, nutshells, eggs, and live plantings. Many craftsmen will be demonstrating their work. Most items will be for sale.

Thomas Thiery of Onsted is the judge announced for this year's art mediums. Mrs. Susan Wenger of Ann Arbor will judge the crafts. Ribbons will be awarded in each category. A division of student art will be displayed, with separate judging to be done for children's art, by Mrs. Roxanne Petrosky of Milan.

For parents with younger children, a Children's Art Circle will be provided for 3-10 year olds. Adults may leave children at the Art Circle for half hour intervals of supervised activity.

The displays will be open from 12 noon till 6 p.m., June 3 at no cost to the browsing public. The Children's Art Circle will be open from 1 till 4 p.m. only.

Girl Scouts meet for ninth annual encampment

Over 700 area Girl Scouts attended the ninth annual Patrol Encampment held at Camp Linden recently. Enrollment for the event, largest of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council year, is up 25 percent from a year ago.

The 81 Girl Scout patrols each worked with three patrols from other areas of the Council, cooking all meals over charcoal stoves, setting up sleep tents, and attending workshops and discussion groups.

Theme of the weekend activities was "Naturally", doing things in a natural way. It covered survival techniques, natural dyes and plants and natural foods as well as garbage gardens. Garbage gardens are those in which seeds and portions of fully-developed fruits and vegetables are planted, instead of packaged seeds. For example, eyes of potatoes, carrot tops, seeds of tomatoes and oranges were planted in containers so girls could take them home and watch their development.

Chairman of the program, Mrs. Scott Kiesling of Ypsilanti, announced the following resource people for the week-end: Mrs. Gregory Heppie of Plymouth, Survival Training; John Remsburg of Ann Arbor, Natural Dyes and Plants; Miss Barbara Overholt of Plymouth and Miss Isabelle Carduner of Ann Arbor, International Singing; Mrs. Troy Brazell of Ypsilanti, Garbage Gardens; and Terry Brown of Soybean Cellars, Ann Arbor and Mrs. Marlene Lipschutz, Natural Foods; and Miss Liz Mustard, University of Michigan student, Folk Dancing.

Girls brought their own food and tents, but program and site costs were underwritten by the Huron Valley Council so that the weekend cost was just $2.50 for each patrol of 6 to 10 girls.

Patches commemorating the weekend, costing 30 cents, were sold. The patch was designed by Miss Gail Simons of Belleville, a member of Senior troop 16 of Ann Arbor.

An all-encampment campfire was held Saturday evening. The event was planned and organized by the Scouts themselves.

Helping to direct the activities of the Scouts was Mrs. Diane Summerfield, 12060 Craig, Romulus.

Patrol leaders from Romulus attending were Peggi Summerfield, 12060 Craig; Danette Hamel, 34153 McBride; Vickie Lindsey, 30487 King Road and Sheryl Stein, 29970 W. Huron River Drive of Flat Rock.

Nine bridesmaids attend Miss Henry

During a nuptial high mass at St. Mary Catholic Church in Monroe, Catharine Mary Henry exchanged double ring vows with George Robert Prince. The six o'clock ceremony was read by the Rev. Carl Gentner before some 400 assembled guests.

For the occasion, the altar was appointed with arrangements of white gladiolus and red carnations. Gregory Beaubien served as lector and music was provided by the St. Mary Young Adult Choir directed by Mrs. Thomas Dusseau. Jim R. Siterlet was soloist and John Raymond, organist.

The May 4 rite united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Henry of 508 East Front Street, Monroe, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lane of 19850 Crandell Court, Belleville.

ESCORTED UP the aisle by her father, the bride was gowning in a floor-length creation of re-embroidered lace over taffeta which had been made by her mother. Styled along princess lines, the dress featured a detachable seven-foot train, a stand-up collar and tapered sleeves, the latter two edged in white satin and fine white lace. A matching band of white satin, centered by a row of white satin buttons centered the dress from collar to hem.

Her four-tiered fingertip veil was attached to a double crown of crystals and her bouquet was comprised of cascading white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary Gaynier of Monroe. She was distinguished by the navy blue picture hat she wore with her toe-touching gown of navy blue and white dotted double knit. White lace was used to ruffle the collar and cuffs and a band of matching lace trimmed the Juliet sleeves and bodice.

Except for their picture hats, which were in white, the bridal coterie was identically dressed. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Anthony Jurawicz and Gayle Peplinski, both of Monroe; Linda Eberline of Trenton; Mrs. Douglas Morningstar of Ann Arbor; Mrs. Ronald Hall of Milan; Terry Henry, the bride's cousin from Puncsutanawney, Pennsylvania; Karrie Lyn LaBeau of Albion; and Patricia Kaminski from Toledo, Ohio.

Completing their ensembles were cascade bouquets of red carnations, white daisies and baby's breath.

THE BRIDEGROOM asked a friend from New York City, John Scerbo, to be best man. The corps of ushers included Anthony Jurawicz of Monroe; Daniel Evanski and Ronald Jurawicz, both of Ypsilanti; Douglas Morningstar of Ann Arbor; Phillip Johnson and Richard Laurie of Belleville; Donald Henry, the bride's brother from Lansing; and Lawrence Bodenmiller of Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Henry chose for her daughter's wedding a full-length gown of blue crepe-satin, trimmed with pearls while the bridegroom's mother was gowning in medium green polyester accented with two roses of the same material. Both mothers were presented with white orchid corsages.

Following a reception at the U.A.W. Hall in Flat Rock, the newlyweds departed for a two week honeymoon in Florida. For traveling, the new Mrs. Prince donned a navy and white pant suit ensemble.

SINCE THEIR return, the Princes have taken up residence in the bridegroom's apartment at 772 Woodcreek Court, Ypsilanti.

The bride was graduated in 1970 from St. Mary Academy at Monroe and in 1973 from the practical nursing school at St. Charles Hospital in Oregon, Ohio.

Her husband, a 1966 alumnus of Belleville High, attended Eastern Michigan University before entering the U.S. Army in 1968. He is currently employed by the Ford Motor Company, Ypsilanti.

The Charles Lanes entertained at the rehearsal dinner May 3 at the Little Dixie Restaurant in Monroe.

Remembrances mark Mrs. T.'s 89th birthday

THE 89TH BIRTHDAY of Mrs. Edah Theisen of Olive Street, Romulus, was observed recently when friends and relatives dropped by to wish her well and help celebrate the occasion.

The octogenarian, still in good health, enjoys needlework, general housekeeping, her favorite television programs, periodic trips to the beauty salon, and light gardening.

She also participates in a local pedro club which entertained her at a luncheon, complete with a birthday cake, at Holiday Inn. Sharing the occasion with her were Mrs. Ernest Fulford, Mrs. Nellie Carpenter, Mrs. Edward Carpenter, Mrs. Carl Polenz, and Mrs. George Carpenter.

The many cards, visits and good wishes from relatives and friends made this an especially memorable birthday for Mrs. Theisen.

Guests dine in Oriental fashion

AILEEN ALLYN invited some 18 guests to her Belleville Road home Saturday for a birthday dinner honoring her husband, Roger. Using a Chinese theme for her menu and decorations, Aileen gave her guests 'the opportunity' to dine with oriental cutlery — chopsticks (which she tells us, turned out to be pretty hilarious).

Presenting the honored guest with a number of clever gag gifts as well as a new golf bag were Al and Edie Wesson and John and Barbara Fain, all of Livonia; Cary and Joanne Blaharski of Plymouth; Herb and Carla Hennemann and Fred and Janet Sprunk of Ann Arbor; Dan and Liz Hinds from Oxford; Clay and Jenna Potter from Battle Creek; and Bob and Pat Shayne who came from Columbus, Ohio to spend the week-end.

The celebration took place at the couple's home and was hosted by Dorothy and her two sisters, Leona Van Eyck of Buffalo, New York, and Rosemary Hill of Harrisburg.

Kosins play host at graduation party

MARY F. KOSIN, daughter of Chet and Mary Kosin of Elwell Road, was the guest of honor at an open house Sunday, May 20, celebrating her graduation from Belleville High. The weather cooperated beautifully, and the baseball players were out in full force to take advantage of the day.

Using the school colors, Tiger orange and black, Mary's mother decorated with matching tablecloths and napkins for the buffet dinner which highlighted the party. Lucille Remus prepared and served the meal to 95 guests while the honoree's dad and two uncles, Bob Sewejkis and Virgil Jensen, handled the bar.

Special out of town guests included Mary's grandparents, Frank and Margaret Maziarz of Bridgeport; her Godmother, Mrs. Frank Lask from Saginaw; and Donna Reed of Coloma who was her Y.F.U. (Youth for Understanding) 'best friend' last summer in Brazil. Others arrived from Freeland, St. Charles, Rochester, Centerline, Grosse Ile, Orchard Lake, Detroit, and this area.

The 'little bird' that told us (Sue Akans) is pretty proud of her close friend, neighbor and classmate.

Build with beef

Beef builds better meals and better meals build better bodies. The high quality protein beef provides is needed for growth, especially in the early years, and for maintaining and repairing body tissues throughout the life span. Protein strengthens defense mechanisms against infection and disease. Beef also is a good source of minerals, especially iron, and the B vitamins.

Time-saving beef steak

Many of the higher priced cuts of beef require the least amount of time to prepare. This contributes to creating an increasing demand for sirloin, T-bone and Porterhouse steaks as more and more women enter the labor market. Steaks have special timesaving appeal for the woman who works outside the home and has to prepare family meals, hence is on the lookout for ways to save time in the kitchen. The additional demand for the limited supply of popular steaks is one of the factors behind the current price of beef, according to a University of Chicago agriculture economist.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Summer time is vacation time for many people. It will soon be here. Every year you hear, "Never again" - when vacationers return from bumper-to-bumper clogged highways, and from plane travelers who spend more time in getting to and from airports than they do in the air. People forget past irritations and are ready and anxious to do it again. Some travelers enjoy the crowds of picture taking tourists in cosmopolitan areas. Others bypass beaten paths and trek to remote, untouched spots for inspiration in isolation. They prefer to see only their own foot prints in the sand.

For whatever intentions you have for travel or vacation this year, may we make some suggestions? Be sure to take a peek into the human hearts you meet along the way. Be sure to let others know where you are. Be sure you can be reached if need be. In fact, you can feel free to use our office for a contact or communication point if you want to. Good luck. Enjoy yourself.

Money and meat

More money to spend means more meat — particularly beef — on the table, and many consumers have a lot to spend. Average weekly earnings in manufacturing industries during the past year increased 10.2 percent, and per capita disposable income was up 8.6 percent. In addition, there were 2.5 million more people employed. More people, spending more money freely, boosted average monthly retail sales figures. The demand for more beef is reflected in increased consumer spending, and that's a big factor behind present beef prices.

Beef round steak for outdoor grill

Cooking on the outdoor grill is one of the summer's most enjoyable pleasures. There's just something about the flavor of beef cooked over coals that's indescribably delicious — especially when it's a steak!

A T-bone per person is nice, but not necessary. One thick top round steak, grilled to tender juiciness, can be carved in dozens of delicious slices to satisfy a hungry family. Just score and marinate a top round steak, cut 1½ to 2 inches thick, and broil at moderate temperature to rare or medium. Marinating contributes to making this less tender steak not only acceptably tender but especially delicious, says Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock & Meat Board. She suggests carving the broiled top loin diagonally into thin slices.

Grill-Top Round Steak

- 1 beef top round steak, cut 1½ inches thick
- ¼ cup chili sauce
- ¼ cup oil
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 clove garlic, minced

Score chilled steak on both sides in diamond pattern, ½ inch deep with sharp knife. Combine chili sauce, oil, vinegar and garlic. Place steak and marinade in large plastic bag, carefully press out air and tie securely. Place bag in pan and refrigerate 6 to 8 hours or overnight. Remove steak from marinade, place on grill and cook at moderate temperature 30 to 40 minutes, to desired degree of doneness (rare or medium), brushing with marinade occasionally. Carve diagonally in thin slices across the grain.

Bridegroom's mother owned a formal polyester gown with a pleated skirt. Both were honored with corsages of phalaenopsis orchids.

Since returning from a two-week honeymoon in Florida, the young couple have made their home at 2119 Lakeview Drive, Ypsilanti.

Connie, who attended Cleary College after graduating with Belleville High School's class of 1971, is currently employed at Metro Engineers, Inc., Belleville. Dale, a 1969 alumnus of Belleville High, is an employee of Detroit Diesel, Allison Division, Detroit.

As class project in Belleville

Students 'invade' school as 'teachers'

NOTE: A group of Belleville High School students spent a day at elementary schools in the area as a student assistance program for a common domestic American problems class. One student, Miss Kitten Florian, relates her feelings about the program and said her day as a teacher was "a beautiful day in education." Miss Florian was a member of the league of "student teachers" who went to Quirk Elementary School.

By KITTEN FLORIAN
Belleville High School senior
As the children scream with laughter as a large black rabbit makes his way through the room.

We stood shaking in front of the "little people" trying to teach them about Michigan in the midst of the confusion. Watching them — praying that they wouldn't engulf us. Slowly we started teaching — and it actually was fun.

THE CHILDREN responded quickly and enthusiastically. They weren't going to eat us up after all. Mr. Steiger, our teacher at Belleville High School, watched and chuckled.

The program idea started a couple months ago when we took an in-depth look at education in our common domestic American class with Mr. Steiger.

We took a day off school to visit the elementary school. It was fun reminiscing as we watched how children learn.

We studied their ever changing feelings about school from kindergarten through sixth grade. Teaching ourselves was the next big step. And that we did on May 22.

WE CHOOSE which grade level we wanted to team teach with a friend. We had to make-up the lesson plan and all the "nitty-gritty" that goes along with teaching.

Tuesday finally came around and the artillery was set. We had our "army" equipped with everything from apple blossoms to Michigan road maps. Then the battle broke out.

We heard war hoops from the first grade as they went hunting for the animals of Michigan.

The cars were roaring at the other end of the hall in the sixth grade. They were studying the different cities and sites of Michigan. Things were well underway as time ran out.

AT THE END of an hour we began to put out the fireside stories of Paul Bunyan and the adventurous fifth grade began to look homeward on their Michigan maps.

Teachers whose class rooms "we overtook" called it a success and enjoyed watching. They felt it was very interesting and would like to see more of it.

We found it very educational in finding out a little about ourselves, how teachers feel and the process of education.

ELEMENTARY PROJECT — Belleville High School Students studying problems in American Democracy at the high school took part recently in a program of assisting students in elementary grades. Discussing the unique program are (from left) Ron Price, John Day, Mrs. Marjorie Bock, third grade teacher at Quirk Road Elementary School; Richard Steiger, high school teacher; Richard Wilson and Dennis Greiss.

Make it the dining room

Every home should have one elegant room

Whatever your favorite decorating style, every home should have at least one room where full reign can be given to elegance and high style.

A spot where the most gracious side of living will be perfectly in tune with the surroundings; where the setting itself seems to inspire sparkling conversation and witty observations; where the tone is tony and the style is stylish.

And what room is better suited for this than the dining room? The living room-den can become as down to earth as comfort dictates; the kitchen can be cozy or cute or practical; the bedrooms can be as personal and arbitrary as the imagination can carry them. But the dining room should have class.

EATING THERE should make you and your guests feel as elegant as dining at the finest restaurant in town. It should have an atmosphere as flavorful and rich as the aromas wafting from your platters and favorite serving bowls.

In this room, you can give way to your most elegant leanings by choosing the richest materials available — after all, this is where you will be using and showing off your best china, your family heirloom crystal pieces and your carefully chosen silver pattern. In fabrics for your draperies and for the upholstered seats and backs of your chairs, choose a fine linen, a soft velvet or a delicate damask. Let this fabric influence your choice of tablecloths and napkins.

Back in vogue is the crystal chandelier, sparkling over the table. They can be seen now in both modern and more traditional styles, and if you want to go all out, pick up one of those genuine antiques.

UNDERFOOT, use a genuine handmade oriental area rug in rich design and color. This is really an investment, as it will only grow in value as it ages. And supporting it all, expose the rich good looks of genuine hardwood flooring, in intricate parquet designs or gleaming planking.

If you start your hardwood floor with a penetrating seal type finish, its satiny gloss will hold up beautifully with a deceptively easy-care regime of waxing as seldom as twice a year with a good paste wax.

The dining room is the perfect place for genuine hardwood furniture, too. The richness of such woods as walnut, cherry, maple, oak, pecan, mahogany or rosewood goes hand in hand with fine foods, good wines and gracious hospitality.

And the styling by craftsmen who still take a pride in the work they put into hardwood furniture has a timelessness and quality that will keep your room elegant and handsome for years to come. As one noted interior designer pointed out recently, the dining room furniture of chrome and glass and flowing plastics may be fine for today — but in five or 10 years, everyone will know when you bought it.

IT WILL become dated. Not so with hardwood, which is used to create classic styles borrowed from the best of all decorating eras.

Elements of the timeless European looks are incorporated into today's handsome reproductions. The good looks of country French chairs, for example, with their cane backs and graceful arms, combine perfectly with a round pedestal table with a beautiful top of oak parquetry. Add a tall Spanish china closet with a lattice work front in rich mahogany, and your room takes on an electric blending of style and tasteful elegance.

Bring the whole room into the 1970s with a sunny use of today's fashionable parrot green, in a floral print for draperies and chair cushions. Maintain the open, airy feeling by using a lattice-like look in the wall paper, using a green and white print that repeats the room's fabric color scheme.

IF CLASSIC American styling appeals to you more, choose a fine mahogany table in a reproduction of Sheraton styling with twin pedestal bases. Combine it with intricately carved mahogany Chippendale side and arm chairs with velvet seats in Wedgewood blue. Complete the room with a Sheraton style buffet in fine walnut veneers. Combining woods in this way adds decorating interest.

Or you can mix and match styles without any loss of looks. Louis XVI side chairs combine beautifully with a host and hostess set with a taller fan-shape back. Upholstered in a soft mint-green velvety fabric, they form a lovely formal setting around a classically simple rectangular table in fine pecan wood.

For a breakfast room, you may even use a piece designed for another room in the house — a maple Italian style bibliotheque originally destined for a library can house china or collectibles as easily as books, and without hiding any of its elegant lines.

In selecting hardwood pieces for your dining room, examine the wood for interesting figure and graining with depth, check the finish to see that it has a clarity that doesn't cloud the natural markings of the cabinetwood, and that it has been artfully "worked into" the wood.

Less expensive furniture is frequently spray-coated with a pigmented material, which is actually thinned down paint, used primarily to cover up imperfections in inferior woods. The result is an uninteresting sameness of coloration throughout the piece.

Here are some of the fine hardwoods you can expect to find in today's dining room furniture:

WALNUT is the most popular of woods used in furniture, partly because it can be finished easier and in more ways than any other wood, and can emerge in a variety of color tones. It is used in every style from modern to reproductions of the classics.

Cherry wood began its career as a fine cabinetwood in such classic styles as the original Louis XVI and Italian Provincial furniture. It was once the most important wood in French cabinetry, favored for court pieces. It is a light reddish brown and has a straight satiny grain with a slight ripple figure.

Oak, a handsome, sturdy wood, has a history in all the Gothic styles, from Tudor and Jacobean from England, to the Flemish, French Renaissance and Mediterranean designs. It is the wood of the original Country French, and is used today in many Early American styles.

MAPLE, a creamy to light brown hardwood, was commonly used among early colonists, and is especially popular today for colonial reproductions.

It is also popular among other style adaptations since it is a close-grained wood which is highly resistant to abrasion and indentation. It is sometimes used for inlay with other woods.

Pecan is extremely popular today in all solid and fine veneered furniture, partly due to its mellow pink-brown color and large flowing grain pattern. A strong wood, it also is used in frames for upholstered furniture.

Rosewood is a handsome wood, most commonly available in dark brown to violet tones, lavishly streaked in black. Other types have pink or yellow-red lines. It was quite fashionable in Queen Victoria's day, and is especially popular now for ultra-modern styles.

AND DON'T be misled by rumors into thinking that fine hardwood furniture is on its way out, soon to be replaced by the cheaper plastic wood imitators.

According to the Hardwood Institute, an organization devoted to keeping the American and Canadian public informed on the best in hardwood products, there is no lessening of the demand for hardwood furniture by people of taste who want the very best in their homes. Estimates are that by 1980, plastics imitating wood will have realized only about 2 per cent of the wood market.

ELEGANCE — Dining elegance in the very now country French manner revolves around this pedestal table with an oak parquet circular top. The cane back hardwood chairs are upholstered in today's parrot green, a color that is reflected again in the draperies and wall covering. In designing the room, a treillage pattern was chosen for the walls, to live in harmony with the latticework in the doors of the Spanish style mahogany china closet. Oak flooring and a genuine Spanish antique chandelier complete the look of elegance and quality.

Even if its warm

Don't forget insulation

Warm weather causes home buyers to forget about insulation. It saves energy in hot weather too.

Keeping summer heat out means your air-conditioning doesn't have to work as hard. So, you use — and pay for — less electricity. The idea is maximum environmental comfort at minimum cost for both heating and cooling.

With the prospect of year-round energy shortages, prospective home buyers should closely question builders about the amount and type of insulation offered.

Beefing up a layer of attic insulation is a fairly simple do-it-yourself chore. But, adding insulation to an existing wall is a far more difficult and expensive proposition. For home owners, the most economical time to upgrade wall insulation is during house construction.

The most popular, and efficient, exterior wall sheathing in general use today is said to be insulation board. The material has millions of tiny cells which retard the flow of heat and cold.

More than half of the nation's homes with sidewall sheathing use insulation board panels, claims Robert A. LaCosse. He is technical manager of the Acoustical and Insulating Materials Association, Park Ridge, Ill.

FORMAL LOOK — This dining room achieves a formal look of elegance by a tasteful blending of styles and hardwoods. The classic rectangular shape of the pecan table is balanced by the graceful curves of the Louis XVI hardwood sidechairs, upholstered in mint green velvet. This fabric is used again in the wall's dado, and to line the handsome maple Italian style bibliotheque used here as a breakfast. The genuine hardwood parquet floor adds an underlying feel of richness to the room and reflects the soothing wood colors used throughout.

Mobile home owners can 'weather' storms

There's more than one way for homeowners to "beat the weather" without getting "under the weather" in the process. Noah had one solution with his ark. The little pig who built his house out of brick instead of straw or sticks had another.

Mobile home living today calls for a different approach to the problem. Many of the same features that make mobile homes so desirable to live in, also make them especially vulnerable to a certain type of weather problem — wind damage.

Their long, low, light design is an easy target for windstorms, unless they are securely anchored to the ground. This system of anchoring a mobile home to the ground to prevent its being rolled or pushed off its blocks in high winds is called tying down.

According to the study "Wind Forces on Mobile Homes" done by the university of Michigan Department of Civil Engineering, tying down is an effective method of protecting a mobile home and the possessions in it from damage due to windstorms.

QUESTION: There hasn't been a hurricane or tornado in my section of the country for years. So why should I spend the money to tie down?

ANSWER: It doesn't take a tornado or hurricane to cause damage; winds strong enough to overturn a mobile home can occur anywhere in the United States. The important thing to remember is that wind velocities sufficient to tip a mobile home off its blocks occur in every month and in every state.

QUESTION: Do I need special equipment to tie down?

ANSWER: Yes. Homemade tie down sets such as rope or wire won't do the job. Many mobile home manufacturers equip the home with over-the-top ties of 1 1/4 inches by .035 inches galvanized steel strapping, and many tie down equipment manufacturers build anchors with tensioning devices designed for this material.

But galvanized steel cable of at least 3/8-inch in diameter or aircraft cable 1/4-inch in diameter can be used, provided the connections to anchors and tensioning devices are properly made.

QUESTION: What types of tie downs are needed?

ANSWER: You'll need two types of tie down sets: frame and over-the-top. Frame ties help stop the lateral or sideward movement of the home; over-the-top ties counteract the lifting force of the wind.

QUESTION: Can I do the job myself, or does tying down require a professional contractor?

ANSWER: You can do the job yourself, provided you have the right tools and are willing to spend the time to do the job right. However, a professional has the knowledge to select the right tie down system for the soil type in your area and the equipment to do the job correctly.

If you choose the do-it-yourself method of installation, you should consult a qualified anchor distributor about the type of anchor recommended for the soil type in your area. A different anchor is needed for sandy soil than rocky soil. And clay soil requires still another type of anchor to insure its holding power.

QUESTION: How much does proper tie down equipment cost?

ANSWER: The cost of proper tie down equipment depends on how many you need in your area. It will vary depending on the length of the mobile home, the soil conditions, and the expected wind speeds in the area. A general rule of thumb for tying down is that you'll need at least one set of frame ties for every 10 feet of length of your mobile home.

Sun's energy may be harnessed

Item: The world is running out of energy.

Item: Enough energy reaches the earth every day to meet every demand of every man for the foreseeable future.

Both items are true - the first, widely publicized as reserves of coal, oil, and gas dwindle; the second, less known but seen by many scientists as the ultimate solution to the energy crisis. The virtually endless source of power is the Sun.

USING SOLAR energy is nothing new. Girls use it to get sexy tans. Small boys use it to start campfires with magnifying glasses. Astronauts are using it to supply all of their electricity in Skylab, America's first space station.

The problem is to collect and convert all that free energy from the sun so everybody can use it, cheaply and efficiently.

One possible answer is the solar farm envisioned by Adam and Marjorie Meinel of the University of Arizona. The Meinels propose to collect solar heat with energy-absorbing panels. The heat would melt mineral salts which could be stored in insulated tanks.

Ultimately these molten salts would be piped through a water system to produce steam - and the steam would drive turbine generators. The result is electricity, without pollution. Heat collected during the day could be used at night, insuring continuous operation.

A solar farm in the Arizona desert would have other uses. Protected under the solar panels, fat cattle could graze on luxuriant grass. And somewhere, somebody's morning coffee would perk because the farm harvested a tiny bit of the sun's power, converted it to electricity, and sent it humming to the city.

The Meinels calculate that a square mile of panels in the Arizona desert could produce ENERGY SOURCE — Solar farms of the future may generate electricity by harvesting sunshine. In artist's concept, heat-absorbing panels collect energy to be distributed. Crops can be grown beneath the panels.

New fitness class set by Van Buren

For the first time in its history the Van Buren Township Recreation Department will sponsor a morning physical fitness class.

Currently, the recreation department conducts three weekly evening classes at the Belleville High School.

Beginning on June 18, physical fitness classes will be held Monday through Friday from 6:15 to 6:45 a.m. at the Belleville High School track.

THE FEE OF $6 entitles participants to attend classes at 7:30 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at the high school.

The morning classes are for those persons who can not find time for the evening classes and for those who desire to attend both classes.

Ben Robertson, township community development planner and director of the department's physical fitness program, in commenting on the importance of a physical fitness program said:

"How do you know if you need to embark on a fitness program? Before you read further, take your pulse. If it is 80 beats per minute and over this is one of many indications that you need a fitness program."

ROBERTSON stated that at the rate of 80 beat per minute the heart will beat 38,707,200 times per year. At a 70 beat rate, it will beat 33,868,800 per year or a difference of 4,838,400 beats. "As you can see a difference of 10 beats per minute means almost five million more beats per year. Your heart will wear out faster. A physically fit person's body will pump more blood at a slower beat per minute, thus getting valuable oxygen to all parts of the body. This is called aerobics," Robertson explained.

"Along with a stronger heart, you will feel better, you will lose weight and inches also researchers say that exercising can improve your intelligence by getting oxygen to the brain," he added.

IN COMMENTING on the physical fitness program offered by the township recreation department, Robertson said:

"One word of caution: Your work, no matter how much you walk and lift will not achieve heart fitness. Working in the garden or mowing the grass will not, golf will not, boating will not. So do not let the summer activities fool you into the idea that activity by itself will achieve a fit body."

The Van Buren Township Physical Fitness Program follows Dr. Cooper's program.

—For your— Entertainment National Cherry Festival Planned

Jack Benzenberg, president of the National Cherry Festival, today announced another new attraction that will highlight this year's festival at Traverse City. This new attraction is called the Sommer Haus.

In making the announcement, Benzenberg said, "the festival is constantly searching for new and exciting events to keep our festival among the top ten in the country." The Sommer Haus is an event to be enjoyed by our summer visitors as well as the people in our community.

The Sommer Haus physically will be a large tent, 60 ft. by 120 ft. with seating capacity up to 500 people at one time. It will be located on the Old Hannah-Lay property near the foot of Union Street on Grandview Parkway.

There will be several events going on in the tent during the day, but from 6 p.m. to midnight Monday through Saturday the Sommer Haus will come alive with the sounds of music and merriment. Each evening "refreshments by the pitcher" will be served to a thirsty public by members of area civic groups. A different non profit group will be in charge of serving each night.

It will be a money-raising project for these groups as they will share in the profits that night. There will also be two bands playing from 8 to 12 each evening with plenty of room for dancing. Playing will be some of the finest polka bands in the state.

During evening hours it will be adults only (18 and over). On site security will be provided.

SHILELAGHS FROM IRELAND, macramé bags, 19th century antiques or candied apples, are just a few of the treasure to be discovered during festival time in Michigan.

Many June events set in Michigan

LANSING — June in Michigan is a mellow month of friendly festivities as colorful as the blossoms of spring, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Shamrocks, shilelaghs and a bit of Irish blarney get the first full month of Detroit's ethnic festival season off to a rousing start, June 1-3. The Slovak Festival is next, June 8-10, followed by the German Festival, June 15-17, Italian Festival, June 22-24 and the American Festival, June 29-July 2. Customs, costumes, crafts and cuisine native to the various ethnic groups are the heart of the summer weekend galas scheduled through September 23 this year. The festival site is on the riverfront behind Cobo Hall in Detroit.

Polkas, bratwurst, beer and sauerkraut are all part of the annual Bavarian Festival at Frankenmuth. Activities begin with a "Willkommen" parade on Sunday, June 10, and include various tours, displays, polka band competitions, entertainment and much, much more for family enjoyment through the week with "Auf Wiedersehen" on Saturday, June 16.

ON THE FLOWER front, Kalamazoo's 21st annual Iris Society Show will be held June 1-3 and the 26th Rose Society Show, June 16-17 at the Westmain Mall. The Jackson County Rose Festival is scheduled June 10-17 at Jackson complete with parade, queen and tours of local rose gardens. Mackinac Island's Lilac Day '73 will be June 17.

The center of attraction, of course, is the island's huge lilac trees and the profusion of fragrant blossoms. Other highlights include a parade of bands from Michigan, Wisconsin and Canada and floats from a number of mainland cities.

OTHER POPULAR June festivals of an annual variety include the Muzzle Loaders Festival in Greenfield Village, Dearborn, June 23-24. More than 500 sharpshooters compete in individual and team contests. Civil War, frontier scout and Indian costumes help recapture the spirit of early America. Gatling gun demonstrations, antique canon firing and an old time turkey shoot are some of the other festival features.

The National Strawberry Festival, June 28-July 4, at Manistee celebrates Manistee County's status of yielding more berries per acre than any other east of the Mississippi.

Muskegon's annual Seaway Festival, June 29-July 8, offers a little bit of everything this year from a sailing regatta, to a turtle derby plus a midway tennis tournament, art shows and concerts among the other activities.

COMEDIENNE Phyllis Diller, headlines an all-star show at the L.C. Walker arena June 30. On Saturday, July 7, it's "Soularama" headed by the Spinners and "here come de judge" Pig Meat Markham.

If you're in the market for action, try the Bear Mountain 100 - the first annual dirt bike endurance race at Grayling - June 9. It's a twenty lap race over a five mile course laid out on Bear Mountain sand, ski slopes and existing trails.

Rough riding, dirt-biting action is the kind you'll find at Ithaca's Wild Frontier Days and Sheriff's Posse Rodeo, June 22-24.

PADDLE PUSHERS have their days in June also with the Red Cedar River Canoe Race at Williamston June 9, the 19th Annual Tawas River Race, June 10 and the Huron River Canoe Race June 22-23.

In the special events category, East Lansing will host the National Puppeteers of America Festival, June 24-29 at Michigan State University.

Public performances will star those 400-year-old professionals Punch and Judy, delightful old favorites - Howdy Doody, Kukla and Ollie and the contemporary "sex symbol" of Sesame Street, Kermit the Frog. There will be two shows every day.

The one o'clock matinee features a program designed for school age children as well as adults. The eight o'clock evening performance centers around sophisticated and experimental puppet theatre selected for adult entertainment.

THE FIRST Annual National Soaring and Glider Festival opens at Frankfort, June 30 and glides through July 7. A wide variety of activities and events are on the agenda including plane and glider rides.

Detroit ethnic festival gets achievement award

The Detroit program of summer ethnic festivals, colorful series of weekend events on the riverfront which revitalized downtown Detroit, has captured the Michigan Week state Community Achievement of the Year award.

Initiated by Mayor Roman S. Gribbs in 1970, the free festivals have grown from four to 19, generating civic pride, strengthening Detroit's ethnic heritage, and providing expensive fun-outings for Michigan families and visitors alike.

Decision of the judges was announced today by Robert B. Willemin, group vice-president of Whirlpool Corporation, Benton Harbor, and Michigan Week general chairman. Boyce Tope, executive vice-president, Detroit Auto Dealers Association, is chairman of the Michigan Week Citizens Recognition Committee which directs the Community Achievement awards program.

"ALL OF THE achievement entries this year were highly deserving accomplishments in their respective communities," Tope said, "but the committee felt that the free ethnic festivals introduced unknown groups to their neighbors, enlightened the total community about unfamiliar

Square dance season ends with dinner

Two Belleville-based square dancing groups closed out their final gathering of the season with a dinner at South Junior High School.

The two groups—Crackpots Squares and the Michigan Wanderin' Squares, local unit of a national group, and Joseph Reed of Belleville, caller, had as honored dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Don F. Here's our '73 All-Area track edition

Eleven determined high school athletes and three relay teams, representing 12 area schools, proved on Friday they are worthy of All-Area Track & Field recognition.

The 11, two of whom set track records, at Westland John Glenn, and relay teams from Dearborn Heights Robichaud, Westland John Glenn and Livonia Churchill earned berths on the 1973 edition of The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' All-Area team.

One of the members of the coveted team, Ed Poindexter, is only a sophomore. And he is already in a class of his own when it comes to hurdling.

The 16-year-old, 5-foot-11 inch, 148-pound Inkster High athlete breezed over the high and low hurdles in near record fashion to nail down two berths and earned for himself two gold medals.

Poindexter recently won the State Class B title in the highs.

When it was all over Poindexter said, "Gee, I didn't think it would be that easy."

POINDEXTER'S No. 1

challenger in the high hurdles was Cherry Hill's Joe Cichon who trailed all the way and Wayne's Roy Mason also didn't pose much of a problem for the Inkster hurdler in the lows.

Poindexter's 14.8 in the highs was three-tenths of a second off the Glenn track record of 14.5 set by Thurston's Bill Van Alsten and the soph's 19.8 was also a mere two-tenths off of tying Glenn's Greg Hubbard's low hurdles mark.

OTHERS WHO earned All-Area slots and gold medals were: Romulus' Daryl Gooden (shot put), Robichaud's Luke Ealey (Long Jump), Churchill's Jeff Young (high jump), Garden City West's Steve Laut (pole vault)

Churchill's Phil Damaska (880-yard), Glenn's Dave Kirk (mile run) Robichaud's Andre Jones (100-yard dash), Glenn's Rick Ellison (440-yard dash), Glenn's Jim Lockwood (2-mile run) and Robichaud's Andre Jacobs (220-yard dash).

Robichaud's 880-yard relay team of Ealey, Johnny Allen, Wesley Jones and Jacobs was the top foursome in the area. The team set a Glenn track record when it finished in 1:31.7, nipping Thurston's mark of 1:31.8.

And John Glenn's mile relay team of Bob Mink, Dave Kirst, Dave Luke and Ellison surprised favored Livonia Churchill when the Rockets won a closely contested race in record fashion.

The winning time was 3:29.3 which broke the track mark held by the Rockets by seven-tenths of a second.

CHURCHILL came back with Jim Cieszkowski, Phil LaFave, Bob Mendoza and Ron Miller to win the 440-yard relay in 44.4. The Chargers were three-tenths of a second off the record.

GOODEN, a 6-foot-1, 208-pound senior who is being wooed by almost all of the Big 10 schools, averaged a loss to Glenn's Wayne Clemons who had beaten the Romulus athlete in state competition.

Gooden tossed the shot 56 feet, 7 inches to outdistance all rivals and establish a Glenn field record, increasing the previous mark by more than one foot, 155 feet, 5 inches).

The 18-year-old senior also holds Romulus' pole vault record and was named to last year's All-Area football team.

LOCKWOOD climaxed an outstanding track career at Glenn by setting the school's two-mile record at 9:36.8. After staying with Garden City East's John Yurchis and Wayne Memorial's Ray Nowak for nearly a mile, Lockwood jammed down the peddle and pulled away at the halfway mark and coasted to the victory.

A slim-built senior who also was a member of last year's All-Area cross country team, Jim broke the Glenn record held by Yurchis who had set it earlier this year at 10:01.6.

Yurchis lost the runnerup medal to Nowak who managed to come from behind to beat the East runner.

However, Jim's teammate, Kirst was forced in a duel to the end to win his spot on the All-Area team. Kirst and Churchill's Mark Priebe staged a battle that was resolved by four-tenths of a second in the Westland runner's favor.

Kirst was clocked at 4:30.1. "It was harder today than ever," said the 16-year-old, 5-foot-8, 130-pound Kirst, who finished first in the Northwest Suburban and fourth at the Belleville regional. "The runners were bunched together and I was just waiting an opportunity to break loose."

ROBICHAUD'S "blue chip" dashmen — Wes Jones and Andre Jacobs — held off impressive fields in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, respectively.

Jones, a 17-year-old, built for speed 5-foot-9, 165-pound junior, clocked off a 10.4 in winning the 100-yard dash. Only one of four juniors who won individual events, Wes also won the Mid-Wayne Conference and regional titles in the event and placed fifth in the state.

However, he didn't equal his usual sub-10 seconds standard. He has been clocked in 9.8 for the event.

"I'm just coming off of a cold," complained Jones, runners were bunched (Continued on B-2)

Youth wasted?
Not by All-Area
contestants

By TOM MOORADIAN

It is obvious that the writer-philosopher who immortalized the words, "It's a pity that youth is wasted upon youth," didn't hang around our space ship long enough to view one of our All-Area Track & Field Meets.

He would have never written those words and if scribbled, he would have probably retracted them, every word including the period at the end of the sentence.

For, to those who had the privilege of witnessing Friday's annual running of the meet, which is co-sponsored by this newspaper, it was evident that the youth who took part in the invitational had not and were not and will apparently not waste their youth.

All have used their time to develop themselves into excellent young athletes.

And, equally important, these young athletes are outstanding young men who are a credit to their parents, their coaches, their schools and community.

THESE BOYS take their work seriously. Etched on their faces and bodies can be seen the ecstasy of victory and the agony of defeat.

I, for one, will never forget the agonizing look upon Warren Woods' face as he lunged for the finish line only to discover that Rick Ellison had arrived one-tenth of a second sooner in the duel for the gold medal in the quarter-mile competition.

Or, the frustrations shown by Livonia Churchill's mile relay anchorman, Phil Damaska who "gave it everything he had" to make up a huge deficit only to fall short at the wire by inches.

And one has to be impressed by the poise and talent displayed by Inkster's sophomore hurdler Ed Poindexter, who seemed to hang the obstacles and win "in a breeze."

But now that's all in the past.

THE FUTURE IS ahead. And one of the tasks we hopefully accomplished — aside from picking the mythical All-Area team — also was to select a site for the sixth meet.

With the Great Scorer's blessing and the Livonia Board of Education's rapid allocations of funds to repair the Livonia Franklin track, the 1974 All-Area Track & Field will be hosted by that school — and Coach Bob Holmes.

Before signing off we would like to thank all of the coaches, the athletes, fans and the girls who manned their respective posts for making the Glenn meet one of the best.

And a special "thank you" to John Glenn's head coach Barr Basel and assistant Jerry Szukaitis, along with Wayne Memorial's Bill Hawley who acted as the starter, and Glenn announcer Dan Didiun for their time and efforts.

Without these people and many, many others we, at The Daily Eagle and The Associated Newspapers, couldn't stage such a worthwhile meet, believe me.

Coaches honored

Fred Price, who has built a winning track tradition at Livonia Churchill, and Bob Lee, who has perpetuated one at Garden City West are The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' 1973 "Coaches of the Year."

Price, 31, accepted the challenge of building a track program at the then newly opened Churchill High School three years ago. After suffering through a 0-10 inaugural year the Charger coach came back to win the Western Six Conference titles the last two seasons.

which included the conference title and the Western Wayne Relays championship.

The largest track contingent in the school's history — 10 persons — reached the state Class B finals that year.

"ONCE OUR PROGRAM got off the ground, the recruiting took care of itself," said Price, a former Indiana prep star who lettered in track, basketball and baseball. "But a lot of credit for our success must go to Dave Westover and Bob Armstrong who have been assisting me."

Westover, who is also the cross country coach, assists in the training of the distance men while Armstrong works with the relay teams.

Price, who played basketball at Spring Hill College, in Mobile, Ala., later transferred to Ball State Muncie, Ind., where he took his degree in business education. He also has a masters in school administration. The latter was earned from Eastern Michigan University.

Married to Linda, the Prices have two small children: Greg, 2, and two-week old Shannon. They make their home in Livonia.

Don't go away...

The All-Area Track team? It was easy to pick, in fact, the members of the team picked themselves by proving they belonged through actual competition against other candidates.

Now comes the huge task of compiling baseball and tennis data for the annual teams, and sports editor Tom Mooradian and staffer Dale Gowing are presently involved in that task.

In the following days their results will be revealed.

"and it was tough out there today."

JACOBS had little trouble in the 220 but Livonia Churchill's Bob Mendoza made the race interesting. The Robichaud senior finished with a 22.6 to walk off with the gold medal. And, after winning the league and regional titles in the event, Andre went on to claim the state Class B state crown in the event.

ELLISON and Robichaud's Warren Woods provided the closest race of the day when they fought it out for the half-mile title. A last second spurt by the Westlander gave him a one-tenth of a second edge over his Dearborn Heights counterpart.

Rick was clocked in the winning time of 50.8 while Woods was at 50.9.

Ellison, a 16-year-old junior, whose performance earned for him the school record had a lot of praise for Woods. "He made me go faster than I have ever gone in the event," said Rick, "and I wasn't sure who won until the officials told me, that's how close it was."

HOWEVER Laut didn't have to sweat it out in the pole vault competition. The 5-foot-5, 18-year-old senior who recently won the Tri-River Conference title, vaulted 13 feet to clinch the gold medal. Laut finished second at the Belleville regional and advanced to the state finals where he placed 11th.

Ealey, a well-known and gregarious athlete who also made the All-Area basketball team, leaped 20 feet, 10 inches to win the gold in the long jump.

Ealey had leaped 22 feet, 4 inches this season.

YOUNG, who cleared 6-foot-2 to take the gold in the high jump, is a junior with plenty of potential. The 17-year-old 182-pound athlete stands 6 foot 6 and is well-coordinated. (He also played center for the Chargers).

Michigan State has a husband-wife coaching team in Bruce and Mary Fossum. Bruce has coached the men's varsity golf team since 1966 and Mary directed the coed varsity golf unit for the first time in 1973.

Rains stop duel

Because of adverse weather and ground conditions the scheduled pre-district match-up between Romulus and Adrian was postponed.

"We have rescheduled the game for Monday and if it rains we'll have to wait until the weather clears," said Romulus coach Bill Cuhran.

The winner of the game will meet John Glenn on Saturday at Southfield High.

ROMULUS EXPLODED against Willow Run earlier in the week, winning an easy 11-4 decision from the Flyers as Kurt Lenderman turned in with a five-hitter.

The Eagle hurler notched seven strikeouts and walked two in getting credit for the victory.

Cuhran's Eagles put runs on the scoreboard in all but the sixth inning. They scored once in the first, second and fifth and tallied twice in the third before blasting out four runs in the fourth.

Vergil Smith had a perfect quiet bats also, managing five hits off Tiger starter and loser Jerry Cole. After scoring in the third, Glenn threatened again in the fourth with the bases loaded but Cole struck out Wesley to end the inning.

In the sixth and seventh innings, Glenn advanced runners as far as second, but couldn't tap Cole for anything further.

Belleville had scoring opportunities in the third, fourth, fifth and seventh innings, but each time stranded men on second base.

COLE TRIED his best to support his strong pitching with his bat, blooming a single to shallow left with one out as the Tigers mounted their biggest scoring threat of the game in the fifth. Robin Hook then followed with a base hit to advance Cole down to second, but Wesley retired the next two Tigers on fly balls.

"It was definitely a pitchers' game out there," intoned Glenn's Hoenes. "Wesley has been pitching real well all season, and though his record is 5-4 it really isn't indicative of how good he's been doing."

"We also had a strong defense today. It's not always the good, you know," he mused.

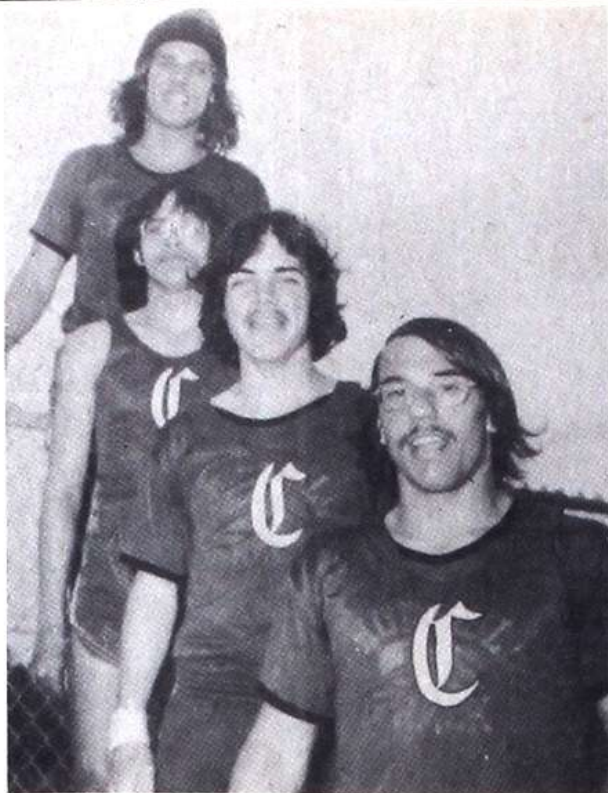

SAMPSON WAS THE game's only batter with two hits, rapping a single and double for Glenn, Craig Linton, Peet and Steve Kaufman each had one hit for the Rockets.

For Belleville, Bob Johnson, Cole and Hook recorded one hit apiece.

Cole almost matched Wesley's strikeout total, fanning seven. He walked three compared to Wesley's two. Each team made two errors.

three for three while Larry Hale collected the lone extra base hit, a triple. Steve Pollard, also perfect with two for two including two runs batted in and Smith also had three RBIs.

The victory gave Romulus a 7-12 won-lost record.

Lee, Price picked coaches of year

IN HIS SECOND year at West, Lee has compiled an 8-1 dual meet record and captured the Tri-River Conference championship with a perfect 7-0 mark. They shared the league title last year.

Lee's two year over-all record in dual meet competition is 16-2. He's 13-1 in the league.

A business education and math teacher at Burger Junior High School, the 31-year-old Lee started his track career as a member of Robert Parks' team at Thurston High School (Redford Township). Parks is presently the head track coach at Eastern Michigan University.

Lee finds that there is unlimited talent in the youngsters of today who "are bigger, faster, stronger and more knowledgeable on many subjects than we were."

"However, there is also an attitude that the kids must learn to reject, and that's 'if you're not a star, you don't want to be part of the team."

Lee apparently doesn't have the problem. Though there weren't any real 'stars', his team had the depth - taking second, third and fourth places in many of the meets that led to a championship season.

"Few years ago," Lee reminisced, "it was just an honor to be a part of the team. It seems 'isn't that way any more. We're hoping that more young athletes will realize the necessity to belong on a team not only as a star but just as a team member."

Bob earned his degree and has a bachelor of science degree in education from Central Michigan University.

Lee inherited the Tigers from West athletic director Bill Pinnell who, in Lee's words, "has been a tremendous help."

Lee and his wife, Diane, reside in Dearborn. They have two girls, Cindy and Cathy, 3.

Madej rips Robichaud

Romulus "put it together" this week as Coach Bill Cuhran's Eagles won two impressive baseball games. Behind the two-hit pitching of Tom Madej, Romulus shut out visiting Romulus 8-0, Monday to make it two straight over the Dearborn Heights ball club this year.

Romulus also posted an 8-1 victory over Ypsilanti earlier in the week.

The two victories, which lifted the Eagles to an over-all 6-8 won-lost record, brought the following comment from the sophomore Romulus coach: "We lost some tough games this year and, though it's difficult to evaluate our team, I'm willing to put these kids up against any team in the state."

MADEJ, in going the distance, struck out 12 and walked one against Robichaud. His mates staked him to a 2-0 first inning lead, exploded for four runs in the second then picked up two more in the third. In the opening stanza Steve Pollard singled and moved to second when losing pitcher Steve Sarkosy hit Manuel Delarosa with a wild pitch. A balk moved up the two baserunners then Ray Pomeroy's hammered a two-run single.

The Eagles scored with two away in the second with Roy Hollis' single igniting the rally. Virgil Smith then belted a double to score one run and Bob Eves' single scored Smith from second. Then, Pollard collected his second base hit and Eves scored when Delarosa singled. Pomeroy walked to load the bases and Larry Hale also drew a base on balls, scoring in the fourth run.

Pollard's single with Hollis and Smith aboard produced Romulus' two runs in the third.

Kurt Lenderman also turned in with a two-hitter in checking the powerful Ypsilanti aggregation. He struck out two and walked one.

THE EAGLES put four runs on the scoreboard in the fourth inning as Pollard walked with two away. Moved up on a passed ball and scored when Delarosa singled. Pomeroy then doubled and Hale also belted a two-base hit and Mike Nielson singled home the final run of the inning and game.

In the opening frame Smith walked and scored when Eves tripled. Delarosa's single chased Eves home from third. The Eagles tripled. Delarosa's single

In the opening frame Smith walked and scored when Eves tripled. Delarosa's single chased Eves home from third. The Eagles picked up a run in the second when an error after Nielson and Hollis had walked gave them the scoring opportunity.

Eves singled and moved to third on a ground out and sacrifice fly and scored after Pomeroy walked and was caught in a rundown.

230,000 tourists visit Ford Rouge plant annually

Man's affection for his automobile frequently has been characterized as a "love affair."

On this premise, it becomes easy to understand why more than 230,000 tourists each year seek out Ford Motor Company's 1,200-acre Rouge manufacturing facilities in Dearborn, Mich., "to see how cars are made."

International tourists last year represented more than 100 foreign countries.

THE ROUGE is among the nation's — and perhaps the world's — most popular industrial tourist attractions. Nowhere else in the United States can a visitor see a larger concentration of closely knit factories owned by a single American company.

Located on the banks of the Rouge River, it was the first and remains the only plant on the North American continent where raw iron ore is unloaded from giant ore carriers, smelted into iron, converted into steel and transformed into engines, frames, bodies, parts and finally, into finished automobiles driven from an assembly line under their own power.

To explore the Rouge fully would require several days. Probably many of the thousands of men and women who work there never have traveled the full length and breadth of the area.

THE LATE Henry Ford first envisioned a self-contained manufacturing complex where every part needed for an automobile could be made and assembled into a product ready for the road.

When he proposed his plan for the Rouge, his associates were skeptical, and some of his fellow stockholders were openly hostile to the idea.

Despite such obstacles, he ordered start of construction of the first manufacturing buildings in the Rouge in 1918.

PRODUCTS of its factories and mills through the era of the Model T, Model A, two World Wars, and beyond, are tangible proof of the project's success.

Although only one of Ford Motor Company's many manufacturing locations in the United States, the Rouge continues to attract tourists because of its sheer size.

A fleet of five ore boats carries six million tons of coal, iron ore, limestone and other raw materials to the Rouge each year to provide materials for manufacture of the thousands of parts needed to build quality cars.

THREE BLAST furnaces produce 6,000 tons of iron each day; steel-making facilities produce about 3 million ingots a year.

The Rouge generates its own electricity — enough each day to light the homes in a city of a million persons.

Within the Rouge are a railroad system which includes 110 miles of track and 20 diesel locomotives, an automotive assembly plant, an engine plant, a frame plant, a radiator plant, a tool and die plant, a stamping plant and a glass plant.

TOWERING stacks and seven-story-high blast furnaces are awe-inspiring sights to any traveler, and rank with the Manhattan skyline, the Golden Gate Bridge and Niagara Falls as tourist attractions.

The most attractive lure for Rouge visitors is the Dearborn Assembly Plant, where new automobiles are driven from the end of a 1,200-foot assembly line at the rate of one each minute.

As a tourist walks along the assembly line absorbing the sights and sounds of mass production, he has difficulty grasping the complex programming of the many separate functions necessary to construct the object of a car-owner's "love affair."

EARLY Rouge tours consisted of an informal stroll. As the operation became more complex, curious visitors gathered at the main gate, or later, in a reception area where plant employees doubled as guides whenever the groups became large enough.

In 1924, the company established a formal tour program which since has become a highlight of a tourist's "Dearborn Holiday." The final car assembly line has been a tour feature since it was added to Rouge operations in 1927.

Tours for the Rouge leave every half-hour from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday from the visitor reception lobby in the east concourse of the company's World Headquarters Building, Michigan at Southfield, Dearborn. There are no tours on holidays.

FORD GUIDES — graduates of an intensive course covering subjects from company history to steel-making — conduct visitors on tours of the Dearborn Assembly Plant and other company operations. Approximately 20 per cent of the Rouge tourists are school children who get their first look at modern American production methods during the visit.

Many area residents re-visit the plant periodically to show visiting friends and relatives the process which creates Michigan's most famous product.

Letters from Ford guests through the years emphasize the popularity of a Rouge tour.

The success of the tour program, which has hosted more than 6.5 million persons, can perhaps be summed up by a letter from a high school teacher, who wrote in part: "I am sure these deep impressions will remain in our hearts for a long time as pleasant memories filled with gratitude. No film or lecture could ever make as great an impression on the high school students as the actual sight, sound and feel of the industry portrayed at the Rouge."

Before painting a kitchen, surface grime and grease should be removed with warm water and a small quantity of a mild detergent. The washed surfaces must be allowed to dry thoroughly before painting.

DEEP THOUGHT — Mrs. Opal Peterson, second grade teacher at the Quirk Road Elementary School, Belleville, with an unidentified student who appears to be in deep thought on the teacher's explanation of her class project. The scene was a typical one in the unique assistance program for elementary pupils.

Belleville fire fighters lauded for quick action

The Belleville City Fire Department was highly commended recently for its quick response and "careful manner" in extinguishing a fire in a vacant apartment over one of Belleville's downtown stores.

The commendation and appreciation for a "job well done" was voiced by Darwin R. Kureth, owner and operator of Kureth's Department Store, 430 Main St. Belleville.

The vacant apartment is located above the store and Kureth who is acting fire commissioner of Van Buren Township was called to the scene around 1:30 a.m. Sunday, May 20.

He said that the fire apparently was caused by vandals who are believed to have broken into the apartment through a side bathroom window. A mattress was set ablaze, he said.

The fire call was first received by the Van Buren Township Fire Department No. 2, located on Ecorse Road, north of the city. Chief John Gonczy called the city fire department and notified Kureth.

"Practically no fire damage was incurred in the store stock and the quick response and manner of extinguishing the apartment fire is to be admired. I want to thank the fire department for their work," said Kureth.

thinks it's about time a car dealer delivered more than just a car.

Every new car we deliver comes fully equipped... with a free mechanic. So you don't have to pay for mechanical repairs to your new car for one full year or 12,000 miles.

We call it our Free Mechanic Warranty.

You Get a free inspection at 4,000 miles, a free inspection at 8,000 miles and the factory-recommended maintenance scheduled for these periods. The mechanic is free, you pay only for needed parts, if any. In addition, you get a 15 percent parts and labor discount for two subsequent years.

And of course, we take care of all the minor headaches that might come up with the mechanical workings of your car. If they do, they're our headache. (Subject to the conditions of your factory warranty.)

We must admit, we do cheat a little.

We make sure that the car is in excellent condition before we deliver it.

That's how we can afford to sell it to you for less in the first place.

It's about time a car dealer delivered more than just a car.
